About the Front Cover

Seemingly at rest, the potter's hands demonstrate a quiet strength as they patiently and lovingly mold a new vessel. God continues to touch us in the same way as He gently, but firmly, fashions a new life for His people.

"John Wesley," Tom Netherton Set For FWBC Special Events Series

The final two performances in Fort Wayne Bible College's Special Events Series will indeed be something special. On Saturday, February 6, that great man of God, John Wesley, literally "comes alive" as depicted by Roger Nelson in the play, "The Man From Aldersgate." Mr. Nelson has given more than 100 performances of the play in 22 states. He is a distinguished actor who has appeared in several off-Broadway plays and summer stock, in addition to film and national television commercials. "The Man From Aldersgate" was written by a 1973 graduate of the college, Brad L. Smith. Tickets for the performance in Founders Hall at 8:00 p.m. are priced at $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

What is shaping up as one of the most popular events ever at the college is the upcoming Tom Netherton concert on Saturday, March 20. Mr. Netherton, known to millions of people because of his long association with "The Lawrence Welk" television show, will be at the college for one performance at 8:00 p.m. in Founders Hall. A native of Bloomington, Minnesota, he joined the Welk show in 1973 and has appeared regularly since then. His latest record release is "The Hem of His Garment" on Word Records and he has written a best-selling autobiography, "In the Morning of My Life." Tickets for the Netherton concert are priced at $5.00 for adults and $3.50 for students and senior citizens. Tickets may be obtained while the supply lasts by writing the FWBC Public Relations Office. When paying for tickets in advance, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope along with your payment. Tickets may also be reserved by calling the office at (219) 456-2111.

WBCL's New Tower Now In Operation

At long last, WBCL's new tower facilities are in operation. The switchover from the old tower to the new one was made on September 22. The new tower, located in the northwest section of Fort Wayne, doubled the previous antenna height and increased the range of the station's signal from a 55 mile radius to an 80 to 85 mile radius. In the planning stages for more than two years, the new tower installation was made possible through the efforts of a group of Christian businessmen.

During the first few days of transmitting from the new location, a number of calls came from people in cities who were hearing WBCL for the first time or reported they were hearing the signal more clearly. Calls from Marion, Indiana, Wauseon, Ohio, and Three Rivers, Michigan were but a few of the new cities heard from during the first few days of transmitting from the new tower.

WBCL is licensed through Fort Wayne Bible College and programs sacred and classical music, along with news and public affairs programming. The station is operated on a non-commercial basis, 24 hours a day from studios on the college campus. Funding for the station is provided by donors who underwrite a portion or all of a broadcast day and through the annual "Sharathon" fund raising campaign. Last year, more than $218,000 was donated and pledged by listeners during the three-day "Sharathon."

ALUMNA MINISTERS TO THE UPPER VOLTA

A 1977 graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College, Neysa Costa is the first black C&MA missionary since 1937 to minister to the Africans of Upper Volta. The following article, authored by Neysa, appeared in the April 29, 1981 issue of THE ALLIANCE WITNESS. With permission from THE ALLIANCE WITNESS, we reprint this article to better familiarize our readers with Neysa's ministry and her desire to see the people of Upper Volta come to know Jesus Christ as their Savior.

By Neysa Costa

"Even as (in His love) He chose us — actually picked us out for Himself as His own — in Christ before the foundation of the world; that we should be holy (consecrated and set apart for Him) and blameless in His sight, even above reproach, before Him in love" (Ephesians 1:4 Amp.).

When I read that verse recently my heart leaped for joy! I was reminded once again that God had chosen me — "picked (me) out for Himself." Then I began to think of all God has already done in my life and all He is still doing so that His purpose for me may be achieved.

As I write this I have been in Upper Volta, West Africa, for four months as a first-term missionary. Being a missionary in Africa was not something I had always planned to do. In fact, I did not even know what a missionary was until after God called me to be one!

Right now I am in full-time language study. I am not able to share my faith as often as I would like. But it is exciting to sit in the background and watch God work.

In the few short months I have been here I have seen God prepare hearts and choose many for Himself — the young, the old, the poor, the not-so-poor, the educated, the illiterate.

The difficult part is that we need many more workers.

A month ago a young man, Braima, came to visit me. He had accepted Christ almost two years ago and is the only Christian in his village. He is unable to read and has had almost no instruction since his conversion.

Braima requested that someone go to his home and teach him more about God. He was sure that if someone went to share the Word, others in his village would also turn to Christ. As he left our house his final words were, "Don't forget about me. I'm following you!"

That was a month ago. But with only two people in our town available to work in so many surrounding villages, as yet no one has been able to go and begin teaching this young man who sincerely wants to know God better. Our hearts ache as we see such favorable opportunities pass us by because we can do only so much.

I invite my black brothers and sisters in Christ to come and share in our work here. We need you!

How do Africans respond to American blacks? Beautifully! They ask many questions, a number of which I have probably missed because I am still learning the language. Their response is positive.

Some of them have expressed surprise to see me in their country. Others want to know why there are not more black missionaries here. One young man said, "Tell all your brothers and sisters to come to Africa!"

Neysa (left) visits with Mariama, wife of the pastor in Niangoloko.

I do not intend to talk anyone into coming out to help us. I only invite you to be open to whatever God calls you to do. He always has happy surprises in store for those who obey Him.

The Amplified Bible expresses it well: "What eye has not seen, and ear has not heard, and has not entered into the heart of man, (all that,) God has prepared — made and keeps ready — for those who love Him (that is, for those who hold Him in affectionate reverence, promptly obeying Him and gratefully recognizing the benefits He has bestowed)" (1 Corinthians 2:9).

When God called me to be a missionary my heart fought long and hard. How could I go so far away? And for so long? And why me? What could I do, anyway?

God has shown me not so much what I can do as what He can do. He has taken me over every hurdle, whether real or imagined. He has brought me through every doubt and fear I had about taking such a big step.

I have no regrets about being here. That is not to say that I do not miss my home, family and friends. But God has supplied another home, a new church family and new friends. He who called me truly is faithful to His promises.

Another verse God brings to my mind frequently reminds me of why I am here: "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit and that your fruit should remain" (John 15:16).

Has He not also chosen you?

New Members To The "BC Family"

In recent months several vacant positions have been filled here at Fort Wayne Bible College. As students arrived on campus this semester they were greeted by three new Resident Advisors . . . Ron Coffey, Lisa Goodman, and Peg Zbinden.

Ron comes to FWBC from Peoria, Illinois and is a 1981 graduate of Huntington College, Huntington, Indiana, where he majored in Business Administration. While at Huntington he served on the Admissions staff for two years. Apart from school, he was an associate staff member of Fort Wayne's Youth for Christ for three years. Ron hopes to pursue a Masters Degree in Administration in the near future.

A 1980 graduate of Grace College, Winona Lake, Indiana, Lisa Goodman is the R.A. for Bethany Dorm. A Sociology major, she recently spent a summer in France as a missionary which increased her desire to be in full-time Christian work. Lisa sees her position as R.A. to be not only a chance to serve the Lord, but as an opportunity to grow and mature in her own Christian walk.

Peg Zbinden first became acquainted with FWBC through a Youth Conference. After high school she came to the Bible College and graduated in 1977 with a major in Christian Education. After working with Youth for Christ for one year, God led her to spend 2½ years in Japan with the Language Institute for Evangelism. There, she helped start a church while teaching conversational English and English Bible classes.

A Word From Dr. Wes

"Come On Along To The Holy Land"

An opportunity of a lifetime for a number of people is being presented March 5-18, 1982. Fort Wayne Bible College is sponsoring a trip to Jordan, Israel, and Greece hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Bostrom, my father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Jared Gerig, and my wife and I.

A trip of this kind is invaluable for the sincere, thorough student of the Bible. It will enable him to see first hand the locations about which he has only read up to that point and will make it possible for him to see for himself some of the archaeological digs, particularly some of the exciting work which is now going on in Jerusalem itself at the south end of the temple mound. It will allow the traveler to see how modern Israel is developing. His Bible will come alive for him as he reads and studies it on location and upon his return to the United States. Such a trip will also offer a new appreciation and understanding for Israel and her place among the nations of the world, particularly among the Arab countries in the Middle East. After a trip like this, it will be impossible to read a news article about Israel without having a new insight into the importance of Israel's place in contemporary history. And for those of us who preach and teach the Word, such a pilgrimage will present much material for enlivening and enriching our messages and Sunday School lessons.

Both my father and I have been in the land of Israel and surrounding countries several times and should be able to add to the trip the additional biblical information which the Israel guides often slight. My folks lived in Jerusalem for six months during the school year of 1964-65 when dad taught at the Institute of Holy Land Studies. During that time he toured the entire country extensively and also participated in several archaeological expeditions.

Money spent on such a trip is not money misspent. Anything that can strengthen one spiritually and give him a new love for the Bible, as such a trip can, cannot be considered a waste. In fact, it is a privilege to be living at a time when it is possible to see the Holy Land and, in particular, the entire city of Jerusalem. Today the temple mound and the old city of Jerusalem can be visited freely by visitors. Before the Six-Day War of 1967 this was not possible.

The basic cost for the trip is $1,844.00 from New York and a brochure can be obtained from the college, telling what all is included in that price. Reservations for the trip are still being taken; however, the number is limited and registrations are being taken on a first come, first served basis.

If you would like a brochure outlining the trip, please write to Fort Wayne Bible College, 1025 West Rudisill Blvd., Fort Wayne, IN 46807, in care of Mr. Keith Vincent. Should the number for this particular trip be filled, you will be placed on a waiting list and notified if any vacancies should occur for this trip or if another trip should be planned for a future time.

President's Perspective

I was asked recently what I think of my job now that I have completed a full year as president of Fort Wayne Bible College. Without hesitation and with all honesty my response was simply, "I think I have the best job in the world!"

Taking stock:

- I am president of what someone described as the "Harvard of Bible colleges." That is a heavy statement not to be taken literally, but it does say our school was a pioneer and is stable and committed to excellence in the fulfilling of its objectives.
- I am part of an educational community that is an organism of people concerned with personal growth.
- I am surrounded by young people who give evidence of a strong desire to serve the Lord with their lives and talents.
- I am the leader of a school that is 77 years old and has 5,000 alumni serving the Lord in all parts of the world in all kinds of activities. Our founding and sustaining denomination, The Missionary Church, is devoted to the spread of the wonderful Gospel in this country and throughout the world.
- I am involved with a school that is deeply committed to serving the Church, seeking to provide it with personnel who are trained and fit for the Master's use.
- I serve a school whose founding motto was "Training for Service and Service in Training." I have endless opportunities to serve members of this academic community who in turn serve others.
- I find myself surrounded by hundreds of God's people who seriously support me in this whole project.

I could say much more, but I think you get the idea. Fort Wayne Bible College is a great place!

Dean Search Continues

The search for a new academic dean at the college is continuing. Several candidates for the post, vacated when Dr. Gene Hovee resigned to take a post with St. Paul Bible College, have been on campus in recent months. The deadline for nominations has been extended to December 1, 1981 to allow time for response to advertisements placed in national publications.

In the interim, the dean's office is being operated by Dr. Arlan Birkey, Associate Professor of Greek and Bible, serving as acting academic dean, and Dr. Jay Platte, Chairman of the Department of Music. Dr. Platte is also functioning as assistant to the president for special academic projects.

The "How To" Of Forgiveness

by Joan Mayers

Associate Professor of Psychology

Most Christians would agree that one of the imperatives of the Christian life is that we must forgive those who offend us. Unfortunately many who say they have forgiven have merely given "lip service" to the concept. In reality they have only pushed the hurt, bitterness and resentment from their conscious thoughts. That the destructive emotions are there become evident by their lack of victory and peace, their broken relationships, and ultimately, their broken health.

Because I have encountered numerous Christians over the years who sincerely wanted help in learning the process of forgiveness, I developed the following "how to" of forgiveness.

"The Basis of Forgiveness"

As a first step in the process of forgiving, the person must stop to consider and to meditate on the significance of several key scriptural concepts which provide a basis of forgiveness. They are given here in brief form with only a few scriptural references. Those who are working through forgiveness should develop a rather in-depth study of these concepts.

1. God has forgiven me of my sins if I asked Him to do so, no matter how many or how bad I think they were. I must accept His forgiveness as a fact and rest in it (Romans 5:1; 8:1-4, 26, 27; Eph. 2:8, 9; I John 1:9).

2. Because God, who is holy and just, has forgiven me, I can forgive myself. I can acknowledge that I sinned because I am a sinner and that apart from His daily help I will continue to sin. I put aside my guilt and determine to walk anew with Christ as my strength (Phil. 4:13).

3. I realize that, because God has forgiven me, I have a great responsibility to forgive those who offended me (Matt. 10:21-35).

4. I realize also that if I do not forgive others, God cannot forgive me (Matt. 6:14, 15).

5. I accept the fact that forgiving is a decision I make — a choice not dependent on feelings.

6. I can forgive others because I understand that just as when I sin, I do so out of my own hurt, anger, frustration, and confusion; so do others. I also acknowledge the role of Satan in urging us to sin (Eph. 6:10-18).

7. I can forgive because even though Satan meant the offense for my harm, God will use it for my good (Gen. 37:57, especially 50:20; Romans 8:28).

8. I can forgive because God will assume the responsibility of punishing if it is necessary. He may work in ways which I'll never know about. But I realize that if I insist on holding a "grudge", I am punishing the person myself, and putting myself up as "God" over them (Romans 12:17-21).

9. I can forgive because I realize that when I don't, I am the loser. Bitterness will steal my joy, prevent spiritual victory, and even cause psychosomatic illness (Hebrew 12:15, Matt. 6:14).

"The Actual Steps of Forgiveness"

Once these concepts have been integrated into the person's life, he or she is ready to take a pad and pencil and proceed through the actual steps of forgiveness:

1. List each person and the offenses of that person which need to be forgiven.

2. Choose to release each person from the responsibility for each hurt caused you.

This is an act of the will whereby I release that person, and allow God to deal with them as He desires. I wash my hands of any right to punish, withdraw from, or withhold fellowship from him/her.

3. Claim God's power to forgive — through you (Phil. 4:13).

4. Say out loud to God, "I now choose to forgive _____ for _____ and will never again allow my mind to dwell on the hurt — or think with anger toward that person concerning that forgiven offense."

5. When the thoughts are brought up to you again by Satan, remind him that, through Christ's power, you have released that person — and will never again hold

"A SUMMER NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN"

Adventures, memorable experiences, spiritual growth and establishing lifetime friendships all took place this past summer for eleven Fort Wayne Bible College students who served as short-term missionaries.

In the Summer '81 issue of PULSE LIFELINES you were introduced to our summer missionaries and where they were going to serve. Well . . . they are back and praising the Lord for a summer never to be forgotten!

Four of FWBC's short-term missionaries wish to share with you the excitement of their summer.

Richard and Barbara Black spent 5 weeks in France where they plan to return as full-time servants of God in the future.

"When we prayed that God would speak to us during our visit to France, we had no idea the things He planned to show and teach us. God spoke to both of us very clearly, showing us where we could minister and how He could use us if we were willing to submit totally to His will.

We now see God's leading in how we might share the ministry of the Bjorks, missionaries now in France, and also how to help meet the needs of the French with the church in the United States.

We give God all the praise for what He has accomplished through us!"

Eric Stairhime was involved for 8 weeks with a Rocky Mountain team that witnessed in parks while uplifting other M.O.I. teams in prayer:

"Being a part of the Rocky Mt. Parks team is something that will stick out in my mind for years to come! The summer was a combination of witnessing, working, and concentrating on the "Deeper Life." Each Sunday we held services in the parks; we worked on projects at the Navajo Bible Institute in Cortez, Colorado; but most important was the study of the "Deeper Life" . . . the study of loving, praying and patience.

The experiences of being on a Rocky Mt. team was well worth the effort!"

Like Eric, Cathy Austin served under Missions Outreach, Inc. Cathy went to Tegucigalpa, Honduras as assistant leader of a group of teens whose goal was to help in the building of a church for the native people:

Richard and Barbara Black dine with Mrs. David (Diane) Bjork, in France. The Bjork's are Missionary Church Missionaries.

"I was like a "mother away from home" to the teens. I had also the responsibility to maintain and improve my relationship with our Lord. If I would have to choose a highlight from the summer it would be in this area. God truly blessed my prayer life. Never have I experienced the excitement and the fulfillment that I did this summer through prayer.

I truly praise the Lord for a fantastic summer!"

Estate Gift Provides New Library Shelves

A generous monetary gift to the FWBC library from the Clifford Sprunger estate allowed much needed shelves to be installed. The funds also made it possible to purchase materials and equipment for the Instructional Materials Center which will update and strengthen the teacher education program.

Librarian Wava Bueschlen poses with the new shelves.

Planning for the distribution of your estate at death, in harmony with God's plan of stewardship, is one of the most important decisions you will make.

Plan it carefully.

To do so, you need to be informed . . . about taxes . . . wills . . . joint ownership . . . trusts . . . charitable gifts . . . and the many other complex issues of estate planning.

From the Director

Rev. Howard Dunlap

Greetings from Witmer Hall - Room 304. These have been busy days! Ruth, my wife, as well as my secretary here at the College, has been very ill. She is presently recovering from a burst appendix. We truly appreciate the prayers of the "College Family" for her. It is good to be a member of the family of God.

We have been involved in many activities. On the agenda has been Pastors' Breakfasts with Dr. Bostrom, Alumni Advisory Board meetings, Pastors' Advisory Board meetings, Alumni area rallies and plans for the next annual Alumni Banquet to be held on Friday, May 7, 1982.

Concerning the Alumni Banquet - the Alumni Office will be more than willing to help classes coordinate a May reunion. In the past, classes have had luncheons, get-togethers before the banquet and post-banquet meetings. Remember, we are here to help you.

Area rallies being planned include November 16, at Bethel Missionary Church near Elkhart; the Fort Wayne area at Harvesters Missionary Church on Sunday evening, January 10; March 6, at Groveland Missionary church and March 13, at Wheaton Christian Grammar School, Wheaton, IL. If you live in any of these areas you are encouraged to be a part of the evening's activities.

The Pastors' Advisory Board is also busy as they formulate a working program for internships. We hope to have a pilot project in operation for the Fall of '82.

Fellow Alumni, please do remember to pray for us, encourage the young people to study with us, and support us as you feel led of the Lord. We need you!

Ladies Auxiliary An Asset To College

What is small in number but has a very visible and lasting impact on the campus of Fort Wayne Bible College? The correct answer: FWBC's Ladies Auxiliary. For several years now the Ladies Auxiliary, approximately 130 members, has taken it upon themselves to assist at the Bible College in their own special way.

The Auxiliary's latest event was their annual "Crafts & Things" Sale held on October 16 & 17. During the two days they sold baked goods, crafts, and "what-have-you" to faculty, staff, students and neighbors. All the proceeds from the sale will be used to finance a campus project. Past projects have included providing the drapes in Lexington Dorm and furnishing the lounges of Bethany and Schultz Dorms. Their time and effort in decorating has resulted in a friendly and home-like atmosphere which is much appreciated by the students!

But, having fund-raising sales doesn't tell the half of what the Ladies Auxiliary accomplishes throughout the year.

The women's group, led by Auxiliary president Avis Neuenschwander, meets two times a year to establish goals and set priorities. In between meetings the women are busy stocking the "Pantry Shelf" for low income married students. Last year, seventeen students received groceries. Donations for the "Pantry Shelf" have come from individuals, churches, local factories . . . the list goes on and on. Maybe you could be a part in this ministry.

Another service of the Ladies Auxiliary is the giving of two monetary scholarships each semester to FWBC students. Money for the scholarships comes from the membership fee ($3.00) members pay each year.

It is emphasized that even if you are hundreds of miles away, you still can be a member in the Auxiliary by sending in the membership fee to FWBC - Attention: Auxiliary. You may not be as active as a local member, but you still can take part in providing scholarships and also become a "prayer mom". As a "prayer mom" you will uplift in prayer a specific student. This is a tremendous ministry in itself!

What is the Auxiliary up to now? Well, they are anxiously working on their first "House Walk!" On Thursday, April 22 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. the Auxiliary will stage a "house walk" which will include homes in the Fort Wayne area. The homes will feature crafts, food, knick knacks, etc. A progressive lunch will also take place with a program in Founders Auditorium to close out the afternoon. If you have any questions about the "house walk" you may call 219-745-5550. It sounds like a time of great fun and fellowship!

BC Family

Con't. from p. 4

A new face can also be seen in our Admissions Department. Gary Litwiller has been appointed Assistant Director of Admissions and began his duties August 1. Mr. Litwiller is a native of Berne, Indiana and is a 1979 graduate of FWBC. He comes to Fort Wayne from Flanagan, Illinois where he served as Activities Director at the Salem Children's Home. He and his wife, Ann, and their daughter, now reside in Fort Wayne.

A new faculty member this semester is Dr. Ronald Leigh. Dr. Leigh replaces Mr. Joe Snider in the Christian Education Department. Before coming to FWBC, he was Associate Professor of Christian Ed. at Lancaster Bible College. He has attended Moody Bible Institute and Wheaton College and earned his Ph.D. in Religious Education from New York University. Dr. Leigh comes to us with a solid background in C.E. as he has served as minister of C.E. and Youth in several churches.

Ling Elected To National Admissions Post

Jeff Ling

Jeffrey Ling, FWBC Admissions Director, was recently elected national president of the Christian College Coordinating Council (Quad-C). He replaces the past president, Paul Sutcliffe, Admissions Director of Geneva College, Beaver Falls, PA.

Involved since 1973 in the Coordinating Council, he served as secretary to the council for four years before accepting the president's post.

The Christian College Coordinating Council exists to bring Christian young people in contact with Christian colleges. Their main road of accomplishing this is through college fairs held each year. As president, Mr. Ling anticipates an expansion of the college fairs to include the major cities of the United States.

Other goals Mr. Ling would like to see carried out during his presidential term include providing young people with up-to-date and factual information in the selection of a college and obtaining the financial aid that is needed. There is also the desire to see a growth in professionalism in dealing with prospective students.

Fifty-eight colleges are now members of "Quad-C." The council consists of individuals directly related to college admissions, public relations, church relations and financial aid. Members are associated with Christian liberal arts, Bible colleges, and Christian junior colleges.

Fall Campus Days Gets Off To Roaring Start On BC Campus

It was quite a three days on the FWBC campus! The first-ever "Fall Campus Days" event was staged October 22, 23, 24, involving the entire student body, more than 100 pastors and their wives, parents, high school students, and BC faculty and staff. With a "something for everyone" appeal, the first annual "Fall Campus Days" got off to a resounding start with a "Pastor/-Leadership Day" featuring two nationally-prominent Christian speakers, Dr. Gary Collins, chairman of the division of pastoral counseling and psychology at Trinity Divinity School, and Dr. Chris Lyons, pastor of the Wheaton Bible Church, Wheaton, Illinois. Both men shared in seminars and workshop sessions throughout the day, joined by Fort Wayne pastors, Reverend Mark Klinepeter, of First Missionary Church, and Reverend Robert Yawberg, pastor of Broadway Christian Church. Mrs. Char Binkley, WBCL air personality, conducted a program for pastors' wives, titled, "Survival Kit for Life in the Parsonage."

The evening was capped off by a banquet at the First Missionary Church and the first night's performance of "God Has Always Had A People" musical by the FWBC Department of Music.

The second day saw the emphasis shift to Christian vocations as some 31 Christian organizations came to campus to set up career exhibits in Founders Hall and make themselves available to counsel with FWBC students as well as visiting high school students to campus. A number of career seminars and workshops were conducted by college faculty and staff during the day.

The final day, Saturday, October 24, was devoted to the traditional Parents' Day celebration as the Student Association organized an activity-packed day for visiting parents. Highlighting the day were films, a soccer game pitting FWBC against St. Joe College, and a student-parent dinner in the evening. Many of the parents also attended the Music Department's musical.

The enthusiasm generated by the participants in the "Fall Campus Days" observance was apparent and plans have already begun for a repeat of the event next Fall. It was a major undertaking and a significant step by FWBC to render a needed ministry to its friends and constituents.

The new maintenance building on campus is now open for business. Finishing touches are still being applied on the interior but Eddie Reynolds and his crew are basking in their new surroundings.

National Organization Founded On FWBC Campus

Once again Fort Wayne Bible College has taken the lead in the formation of a national organization established for the betterment of Christian institutions of higher learning.

For several years Christian service directors around the country have indicated a need for fellowship and comradeship within the Christian service circle. From this desire came the vision for an association specifically for Christian service personnel.

Planning Began In 1980

Preliminary planning for such an organization began with an ad-hoc committee meeting at Fort Wayne Bible College in November of 1980. Present were representatives from Fort Wayne Bible College, Moody Bible Institute, Philadelphia College of the Bible, and Columbia Bible College. After two days of extensive planning, it was decided the first Association of Christian Service Personnel conference was to meet in the fall of 1981.

On October 8 and 9, Fort Wayne Bible College hosted the first biennial conference of the Association of Christian Service Personnel (ACSP). The group's main goal: to give opportunity to C.S. personnel for professional stimulation and exchange of ideas for the improvement of Christian service departments.

Under the direction of Fort Wayne Bible College Christian service director, Joy Gerig, and assistant director, Dick Baxter, the Association of Christian Service Personnel assembled for two days of seminars, group discussions, approval of the constitution and by-laws, and installation of officers.

Joy Gerig shares her feelings about the new association. "I find it so exciting to see FWBC involved in another pioneer project. In 1947 S.A. Witmer, past Fort Wayne Bible College president, was one of the founders of the American Association of Bible Colleges (AABC), the accrediting association for Bible colleges in the U.S. and Canada. Now, in 1981, at Fort Wayne Bible College, where the dream for the American Association of Bible Colleges was formed, the dream of a Christian service association has also become a reality!"

Twenty-Six Colleges Represented

Taking part in the first biennial conference were 26 representatives of Bible Colleges from 16 states and 3 provinces of Canada. Through informative, inspirational and problem-solving seminars, the representatives returned to their colleges encouraged and possessing new insights in the field of Christian service. They returned to better serve approximately 14,000 students involved in Christian service ministries on 23 college campuses.

Special guest at the conference was Mr. Randy Bell, Assistant Director of the American Association of Bible Colleges. Throughout the conference he gave support to the important aspects and concepts being discussed regarding Christian service. Mr. Bell also officiated at the installation of the elected officers and the signing of the constitution and by-laws.

Officers Elected

Elected officers are: president, J. Otis Braswell, Columbia Bible College; vice-president, Joy Gerig, Fort Wayne Bible College; and secretary-treasurer, Dr. Leonard Rascher, Moody Bible Institute. Members-at-large are: C. Brent Wood, St. Paul Bible College; Bill Lewis, Philadelphia

College of the Bible; John Mitchell, Baptist Bible College of Clarks Summit, PA; and Don Fladland, Lutheran Bible Institute of Seattle. Dick Baxter, Fort Wayne Bible College, was appointed editor of the Association's newsletter.

The conference came to a close on Friday evening with a banquet held at the Hilton Inn of Fort Wayne. After the evening meal the assemblage was addressed by Mr. Randy Bell and then challenged by president, Otis Braswell.

Evaluative comments include:

"I have never attended a conference where I received so much in such a short time."

"I'm ready to resign my teaching position to become a full-time Christian service director!"

The overall feeling that many expressed was the sense of unity that was present throughout the two days.

What does the future hold for the Association of Christian Service Personnel? Plans are already being composed for the next conference! The executive committee will be meeting in Minneapolis in April to determine the location and program for the 1983 meeting.

ACSP members are anticipating great things as a result of their new association. They are richly praising God that now they have an organization that provides a base for meaningful exchange.

The "How To" Of Forgiveness

that against him/her. This process may have to be repeated frequently for a while.

6. VERY IMPORTANT!!! As a final act of healing in the broken relations — some attempt to build a bridge toward a renewed relations must be made. It may be as simple as approaching a person and shaking hands — or it may call for more definitive action.

What I do depends on my relationship with the person. Does he or she know that I have been holding something against him or her? If so, I may need to discuss the situation (only that I had been holding something in my heart. This is not the time to correct him/her).

Sometimes it is not necessary to involve the other person at all except to speak and smile warmly when we meet, etc. This is something to lay before the Lord in prayer.

The end result of completing this process should be true forgiveness, and the restoration of inner peace and joy — plus a renewed relationship with the one who has been forgiven.

Second Year For Varsity Soccer at FWBC

FWBC's soccer squad, under the direction of coach Dennis Williams, began its second season of varsity competition this fall. The team closed out the 1981 season with a 5-7-1 record.

Coach Williams comments on the season, "We had expected to do much better, but there are many lessons to be learned in losing. We have a team filled with exceptionally talented players, and we have played some very good games during our season. Our commitment is not necessarily to defeat an opponent, but to represent Christ in attitudes, sportsmanship, and by doing the best job we can while on the field of play."

Last year the Falcon team placed third in their conference with a 3-4-1 record. This year's NCCAA District Soccer Playoffs will be held November 13, 14, & 21, while the National Soccer Tournament will take place December 3-5.
